

Radiotherapy Information and Support Service

Having treatment for cancer can be a difficult time for anyone. You may benefit from talking to our Information and Support Radiographer.

We are here to provide information and support to help you and others while you are having your treatment. Our Information and Support service is open to anyone affected by cancer. Whether you are a patient, carer, relative or friend, we are happy to see you.

We can provide:

- Support when you need it.
- Give relevant and timely information on Radiotherapy treatments, side-effects and other relevant issues, particularly on how best to cope.
- Explain and clarify medical terms.
- Provide a confidential service to discuss any concerns or questions you may have regarding your treatment.
- Refer you to appropriate professionals or services that may be of assistance to you/may help you.
- Offer telephone support.
